...A SUMMER ISSUE

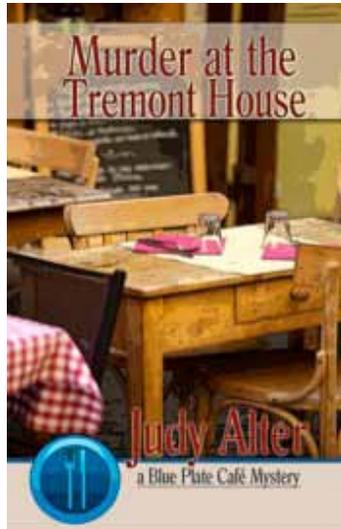

Hi, friends....

Coming up: The fifth Kelly O'Connell Mystery, Deception in Strange Places, will launch as an e-book July 31, with print to follow.

DECEPTION IN STRANGE PLACES
A KELLY O'CONNELL MYSTERY
JUDY ALTER

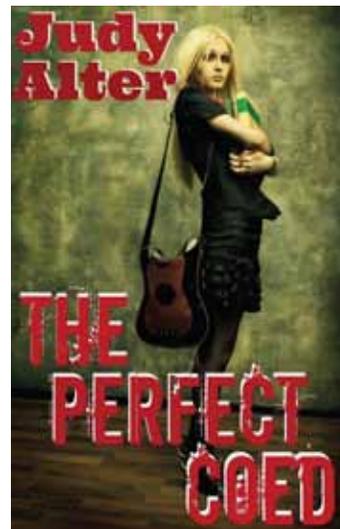

Kelly finds deception all around here in this new adventure. A woman desperately seeking her biological mother, a televangelist determined to thwart that search, a hired hit man, and in the midst of it all, a reclusive diva who wears Chinese silk gowns and collects antique Chinese porcelain. None of them are telling the whole truth, and Kelly doesn't know who to trust. She has gotten herself involved in a dangerous emotional tangle this time, and Mike doesn't tell her to back off, even when events take them from Fort Worth to San Antonio.

I know some of you have read Murder at the Tremont House (the second Blue Plate Mystery) in e-book form, but there are a few who prefer print. I wanted to let you know it's now available in print. I have a few copies if you're local and want to come by the house; if you prefer, you can order it from Amazon (<http://tinyurl.com/p5h59cy>). It's also available for several other platforms—Nook, Kobo, Sony, etc.—from Smashwords (<http://tinyurl.com/l5tjgqm>).

And—drum roll, please—The Perfect Coed will launch October 15 or thereabouts simultaneously in print and digital forms. There'll be a launch party at the Old Neighborhood Grill and, I hope, lots of buzz about it between now and then on the internet. This is my first self-published, independent book and may well be the start of a new series.

Big doings from my desk, but I'll keep you posted. In the meantime, happy summer to everyone.
